

METHOD FOR DETECTING AN ANALYTE BY FLUORESCENCE

ABSTRACT

- 5 Two-dimensional and three-dimensional arrays of a polydiacetylene backbone having a substrate incorporated are used in chemical sensing methods to detect the interaction of an analyte with the substrate by monitoring the change in the fluorescence of the array.